
CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP

This will allow us to add a local company/organization as a member by a designated seat. An employee will represent the company at our meetings/events. If the employee leaves a new employee can be designated to take their place without being charged a new member fee.

Companies that want to be “good corporate citizens” will find this membership appealing because they recognize the value of the affiliation with our well respected organization. This way they can develop a relationship with us and other community groups.

Questions:

Can they send different employees ? Yes, but only as guests.

Dues? Regular dues paid for by member or corporation.

No separate application needed; the application only notes that the membership is corporate.

One employer can have more than one corporate member, each having specific person named.

There is no need to change the by-laws; secretary only notes that this person is a corporate member and identifies the company.
